

Nemours CEO Recognized Among the 50 Most Influential Physician Executives

Dr. David Bailey, MD, MBA, president and CEO of Jacksonville-based Nemours has been recognized by Modern Healthcare as one of the 2017 50 Most Influential Physician Executives and Leaders. The ranking is featured in the June 19 issue of Modern Healthcare magazine, and profiles of the winners are available at ModernHealthcare.com/50most2017.

In its 13th year, the recognition program acknowledges physicians working in the healthcare industry who are deemed by their peers and an expert panel to be the most influential in terms of demonstrating leadership and impact. Bailey is the only Florida and Delaware-based healthcare executive on the 2017 list.

"Each year the competition for this recognition intensifies. This year, more than 66,000 votes were cast on our ballot of high-profile physician leaders. The caliber of leadership displayed is best-in-class," shares Aurora Aguilar, editor of Modern Healthcare.

Nemours is one of the largest integrated children's health systems in the country, with two freestanding state-of-the-art children's hospitals — Nemours Alfred I. duPont Hospital for Children in Wilmington, Del., Nemours Children's Hospital in Orlando. Nemours provides medical care in six states with more than 70 primary-urgent- and specialty care practices serving children in Delaware, Florida, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Georgia. More than 40 hospitalists serve 19 affiliated hospitals, helping keep the best possible care for children local and Nemours CareConnect provides parents peace of mind 24/7 with telehealth services delivered by board certified pediatricians.

Established as The Nemours Foundation through the legacy and philanthropy of Alfred I. duPont, Nemours offers pediatric clinical care for children with complex illnesses and is renowned for its research and medical education programs. Nemours also operates KidsHealth, ranked as the No. 1 website for children's health care information.
